08/10/2020	36	ORDER of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the First Circuit entered as to 28 Notice of Appeal filed by Rhode Island Republican Party, Republican National Committee: This cause came on to be heard on appeal from the United States District Court for the District of Rhode Island and was argued by counsel. 08/10/2020	37	OPINION of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the First Circuit entered as to 28 Notice of Appeal filed by Rhode Island Republican Party, Republican National Committee :..." We have paid attention, too, to the possibility that this litigation is collusive, with defendants having agreed to judgment just days after the suit was filed. A state official unhappy with the lawful decisions of the state legislature should not be able to round up an agreeable plaintiff who then uses collusive litigation to "force" the state to do what the official wants. Here, though, all other representatives of Rhode Island's government have gone silent, voicing no objection at all to the consent judgment and decree. Furthermore, if state officials fairly conclude, as credibly happened here, that enforcement of a law is unconstitutional in certain circumstances, one can hardly fault them for so acknowledging. Indeed, the Secretary of State and Board of Elections are obligated to enforce Rhode Island's voting laws, provided those laws are not deemed unconstitutional. R.I. const. art. III, § 3; R.I. const. art. IV, § 12. 17 R.I. Gen. Laws §§ 17-7-4, 17-7-5. Notice, too, was given to the attorney general, who by law is obligated to act as legal advisor for all state agencies and officers acting in their official capacity and to defend them against suit, R.I. Gen. Laws § 42-9-6, and who advised the defendants, herein, throughout the proceedings below. And it would be odd indeed to say that a plaintiff cannot get relief from an unconstitutional law merely because the state official charged with enforcing the law agrees that its application is unconstitutional. Finally, there is no claim that the details of the consent decree were not negotiated at arm's length. All in all, we see no collusion, and counsel for the Republicans expressly so agreed at argument. Finally, as to the Republicans' status as intervenors in this case, the district court's order denying intervention is reversed in part, only for purposes of appeal, and the motion for stay pending appeal is denied.
